

Members of the DeGroote School of Business Advisory Council

The DeGroote School of Business has several Advisory bodies, each with a specific focus, but all sharing a common purpose: to help further the School's mission to pursue innovative excellence in management research, education and professional service in an experiential learning environment within an international context.

The Business Advisory Council's role is to assist the Dean with strategic issues as well as focusing on the needs of students, such as mentoring, co-op and internship work terms, and employment upon graduation.
